

Brent Bradshaw

Brent Bradshaw is the president and founder of NineDecisions, Inc. He has an MBA, a BS in computer science with minors in physics and accounting. He has also been awarded five patents. He has been a manager, director, founder, and VP for over thirty years, at various computer companies, such as Novell, WordPerfect, and Burroughs.

His most challenging and rewarding achievement so far has been to crack the code for mapping key decisions (such as goals, strategies, and tactics) onto a simple framework, which can be used for any endeavor.

Aside from empowering people to make key decisions better, Brent enjoys traveling, jeeping, and skiing with his family.
